

PREPARING FOR THE NEXT GENERATION

MARCH 9-11, 2023
ORLANDO

AMERICA'S LARGEST FARMER-LED,
FARMER-FOCUSED AGRICULTURAL AND EDUCATIONAL EVENT

#Classic23 • CommodityClassic.com

Welcome to Commodity Classic: America’s largest farmer-led, farmer-focused agricultural and educational experience! Unlike any other event in agriculture, Commodity Classic is created by farmers, for farmers.

At Commodity Classic, you join thousands of farmers and agribusiness leaders to gain the information and insight you need to prepare for the next generation of farming. Since you are here, you’ve decided to invest in the most important commodity you have: yourself. Whether you’re looking to learn more about the next generation of ag technology or you’re interested in transitioning your operation to the next generation, you’re in the right place.

While you are here, use the Commodity Classic app to engage with others and to map your time on the show floor. You’ll also want to check out the educational sessions that are of interest to you as well as Friday’s General Session and Saturday’s Evening of Entertainment featuring .38 Special!

Welcome to Commodity Classic 2023: Preparing for the Next Generation.
We hope you have a great experience!

The Great Grain Challenge

March 9, 2023 7-8 AM EST

Room Number: W311

Success in a Roller Coaster Market

Marketing is never easy, even when prices are high. These days making sales decisions as prices lurch higher or lower can make you feel like you're in a rollercoaster: excitement, nervousness, fun --maybe even a bit queasy, especially considering high input costs. But if you thought volatility was behind us think again, as global fundamentals – namely supply shortages, inflation, and the Ukraine-Russia war - continue to point toward more volatility for grain farmers. In this session grain marketing experts Ed Usset and Matt Bennett will help grain farmers understand the best ways to manage rollercoaster markets, through a strong marketing plan grounded in fundamentals. They will provide audience members with key marketing strategies that work no matter which way prices go in 2023.

Don't miss this exceptional Learning Center opportunity!

Key Learning Points:

- Prepare a marketing plan for 2023 and 2024
- Review the volatility of the market including supply shortages, inflation, and the Ukraine-Russia war.
- Attendees should come prepared with their own questions
- Speakers will be available after the sessions for additional discussion

How Carbon Farming Practices Unlock Profitability

Sponsored by Indigo Ag

1:15 p.m. – 2:00 p.m. • Room W204

SPEAKERS: Ryan Stockwell, Sr. Manager, Grower Engagement, Indigo Ag; Darrin Unruh, Channel Partner Manager, Indigo Ag; Meredith Reisfield, Director, Carbon Policy & Strategic Partnerships, Indigo Ag; Ben Riensche, Owner & Manager, Blue Diamond Farming Company

Learn how carbon farming practices can improve soil health, generate carbon credits, and boost farm profit potential. Agricultural carbon markets are developing rapidly, and companies are lining up to purchase carbon credits. This gives farmers new avenues for profitability. But how are carbon credits generated? Why are companies interested in them? How can you maximize credit production? In our Learning Center Session, we will cover these topics and more, helping you understand the opportunity and how it can apply to your farming operation.

Science-Based Nutrient Management in Times of High Fertilizer Prices

Sponsored by Certified Crop Adviser (CCA) Program & Nutrien eKonomics

2:15 p.m. – 3:00 p.m. • Room W207

SPEAKERS: Dr. Karl Wyant, Director of Agronomy, Nutrien; J. Isaac Wolford, CCA-CB, Agronomist, Chair ICCA, CCA; Luther Smith, CAE, Director of Certification, American Society of Agronomy

When prices are high, how do I use science to decide what and how much fertilizer to apply this year? Making science-based decisions when fertilizer prices are high can help increase the return on investment (ROI) from your nutrient management strategy. Dr. Karl Wyant, Nutrien Director of Agronomy, will share what practices you can take when preparing for high fertilizer prices, including nutrient management and crop rotations based on current crop markets.

The last portion of the session will feature the awards presentation for the 2023 International Certified Crop Adviser (CCA) of the Year. CCAs strive to be invaluable resources for growers, as “partners” on the business side of your operation and knowledgeable, supportive advisers on the agronomic side of the equation.

The Endangered Species Act and Pesticides: What It Means for Your Operation

Sponsored by American Soybean Association (ASA), National Corn Growers Association (NCGA), National Association of Wheat Growers (NAWG), Syngenta® and the FIFRA-Endangered Species Task Force

2:15 p.m. – 3:00 p.m. • Room W208

MODERATOR: Mary Kay Thatcher, Senior Manager, Federal Government and Industry Relations, Syngenta

SPEAKERS: Jake Li, Deputy Assistant Administrator, Environmental Protection Agency; Stanley Culpepper, Professor of Weed Science at University of Georgia, and farmer; Tony Burd, Senior Regulatory Stewardship Manager, Syngenta; Patty Mann, Grower

As part of pesticide registrations, EPA and other federal regulators are increasingly working to better understand what pesticide and field measures might be needed to protect endangered species from potential pesticide exposure. In the years to come, farmers will likely face greater limits on how, when and where they can apply pesticides. Now more than ever farmers must understand the EPA registration process and engage to ensure their voice is heard. The safe use of crop protection technologies is a shared responsibility among technology providers, retailers, farmers and regulators — and each of these voices is critical to ensure regulatory decisions are workable for agriculture. Come learn from an expert panel what the Endangered Species Act means for your operation and how you can make sure pesticide measures minimize the impact on production while protecting the environment.

9:15 a.m. – 10:00 a.m. • Room W208

As agriculture technology, climate preservation and market demand continue to converge. How can growers leverage their operations sustainability practices to create true market value? While carbon credits are one way, there are opportunities beyond carbon that can bring high value selling opportunities for the grower. In this panel discussion, growers and sustainability program experts come together to share their diverse experiences across agriculture's sustainability program landscape. From addressing the hard stuff, like, sharing the challenges of managing program logistics across thousands of acres, to sharing their sustainability program success stories.

Successful Farming Talk: Generation Next: A Retiring Couple's Journey to Find a Successor to the Family Farm

Sponsored by Syngenta®

SPEAKERS: Laurie Bedord, Successful Farming; Carroll &

Kathy Hoksbergen, Iowa farmers; Kitt Tovar Jensen, Beginning Farmer Center Manager, Center for Agricultural Law and Taxation at Iowa State University

Carroll and Kathy Hoksbergen were determined to ensure young farmers became the next generation to take over their Iowa farm. It took dogged determination, valuable fleeting time, hard work, a ton of pencil pushing, and the cooperation of lending institutions to make it happen. Hear about the retiring couple's journey to find a successor to their family farm. Kitt Tovar Jensen will also offer insight on how to make the transition process as seamless as possible.

IF THERE'S A BETTER WAY, HE'LL FIND IT.

Every growing season has its challenges. Weather. Weed resistance. Razor-thin margins. So you keep an open mind and look for new ways to tackle the problem — new products, new techniques, new ideas. At UPL, we're opening new doors to productivity with products designed to help you do more with less.

To learn more about our solutions for corn and soybeans, talk to a UPL representative at booth #1411 or visit upl-ltd.com/us.
